

Contributors Advance Monticello's Mission

The Thomas Jefferson Foundation recorded a number of major accomplishments in 2003, among them playing host

TJF / Robert C. Lauman

The Parlor, the principal social space for family and guests at Monticello.

to the national launch of the Lewis and Clark Expedition bicentennial, unveiling a redesigned Web site, accommodating 22 visiting scholars at the International Center for Jefferson Studies, and making substantial progress on the restoration of Monticello's dependencies.

None of these would have been possible without the interest and generosity of our donors.

It is worth noting that the total number of donors in the Foundation's history reached 4,000 with the receipt of a gift in July 2003. It would be an understatement to say that the impact of the contributions made by these 4,000 donors has been monumental.

On these pages we gratefully list the individuals, foundations, corporations, and organizations who made gifts to Monticello during 2003. Their contributions make all of the Foundation's work possible, and all are deeply appreciated. Thanks to the generosity of these donors, the Foundation achieved $1,936,644 in its annual fund – dollars that directly support the operating budget – and $7,440,573 in total gift income.

We continue to dream big dreams, important dreams for the future.
