GIFT REPORT 2010

Stewarding the Thomas Jefferson Foundation's Mission

THE THOMAS JEFFERSON FOUNDATION (TJF) owns and operates Monticello, the mountaintop home of founding father Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, and third president of the United States.

TJF is also distinguished for its world-class library and academic center, its acquisition and protection of 2,400 acres of Jefferson's 5,000-acre plantation, and its 21st-century visitor gateway and education center, welcoming 450,000 people annually. Since its founding in 1923, TJF has been committed to its dual mission:

- ✿ PRESERVATION: To conserve, protect, and maintain Monticello—Jefferson's lifelong "essay in architecture" and the only home in America on the United Nations' World Heritage List—in a manner which leaves it unimpaired for future generations;
- ✿ EDUCATION: To interpret and present Thomas Jefferson and his legacy to the widest possible audience, including scholars, students, educators and the general public.

TJF's vision is to engage a global audience in a dialogue with Jefferson's ideas. Through on-site, off-site and virtual engagement, TJF stimulates interest in Jefferson and applies its extensive research and knowledge to reveal his genius in a variety of pursuits, from architecture and the arts, horticulture, cuisine, agriculture, natural history and science, to philosophy, political ideals, self government, education, and the rights of man.

As a private, nonprofit organization, the Thomas Jefferson Foundation receives no regular federal, state or local governmental support. We rely on the private support of our donors to empower our capacity to preserve and educate.

Donors to the Thomas Jefferson Foundation are stewards not only of Monticello, the iconic three-dimensional autobiography of Thomas Jefferson, but also of Jefferson's enduring ideals—of personal liberty, religious choice, and the illimitable freedom of the human mind.

On these pages we thank the individuals, foundations, corporations, and organizations whose gifts to the Thomas Jefferson Foundation during 2010 supported the operating budget and other critical initiatives.

We gratefully receive these contributions as a testament to the genius of Jefferson.

Giving to Monticello

The Monticello Cabinet

THE 2010 MONTICELLO CABINET honors individuals, foundations, corporations, and organizations who gave $5,000 or more in support of the Thomas Jefferson Foundation's mission of preservation and education from June 2009 – December 2010. The Foundation deeply appreciates the generosity of the Monticello Cabinet and acknowledges the leadership of Cabinet Co-Chairs, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bryan IV and Mr. and Mrs. David A. Beach.

Mulberry Row and the Landscape of Slavery at Jefferson's Monticello

The Kundrun Challenge

Through the active interpretation of Mulberry Row, the plantation's "main street," the Thomas Jefferson Foundation will enhance understanding of Monticello while making a major contribution to the national understanding of slavery. Mulberry Row and the Landscape of Slavery at Jefferson's Monticello is the first part of a multi-year project designed to help "real" and "virtual" visitors understand the complex world of Monticello, the 5000-acre plantation occupied by Thomas Jefferson and his family, hired workers, and about 130 enslaved people in any given year.

Thomas Jefferson Foundation Trustee Fritz Kundrun and his wife Claudine have issued a challenge to all who want to help interpret this important part of the mountaintop's history, and will match gifts dollar-for-dollar up to $3 million in support of the interpretation of Mulberry Row.

"It is our responsibility to preserve this piece of American history as well as to educate others about Monticello as the entire plantation, where enslaved men and women worked and lived. Join us in supporting a truly remarkable project," said Mr. Kundrun.

Angel Fund for Field Trip Scholarships for Virginia Schools

The Charles Fund Challenge

In 2005, The Charles Fund established an Angel Fund at Monticello to provide free admission and transportation for students from areas of Virginia who might not otherwise be able to visit Monticello. With the program now well established, the Charles Fund has issued a challenge to all who want to expand opportunities for school field trips to Monticello for disadvantaged students from underserved areas of the Commonwealth. The Charles Fund will match gifts up to $100,000 in support of the Angel Fund.

When this challenge is met, the Thomas Jefferson Foundation will make a public announcement inviting public schools in Virginia to apply for field trip grants. A panel of Foundation staff and educators will award the field trip grants based on a combination of demonstrated need and clearly outlined plans to optimize the experience in the classroom before and after the visit to Monticello.

The Angel Fund program is administered by the Carl and Hunter Smith Department of Education at Monticello which offers diverse educational opportunities for children, families, teachers and adults. Over 78,000 school-age children enjoy Monticello each year on family and school trips, and the Smith Department of Education's K-12 curricular programs serve over 14,000 students annually.
